FLY

AN ABUNDANCE OF LIGHT

Flybridge station gives total control over the yacht

A roomy cockpit with great access to the top deck

The 380 FLY is a third-generation Galeon yacht with a distinctive line sharing similarities with the bigger models yet remaining fresh and recognizable.

The yacht's sporty silhouette quickly catches the eye with its hull-length windows, aggressive lines and welcoming flybridge. Outside, the aft-facing sundeck welcomes you with a transformable, fold-out settee with adjustable lumbar support. The built-in laminate doors neatly close off the cockpit. The bow sundeck boasts conveniently placed cup holders and a regulated headrest for additional back support. The generous side decks and practical handrails are great for crew while mooring and sailing rough seas. The foldable radar arch and mast allow for an easier passage under bridges and other obstacles. The glass doors in the cockpit slide to reveal a cozy salon suffused with natural light thanks to the drop-down windows and a slightly tilted windshield made from a single sheet of glass.

Large sundecks are located on the bow and flybridge

FLY

The design team put tremendous focus on making the interior as bright and spacious as possible.

The main deck features a comfortable dinette, a helmsman's station and a galley that can be moved down below in the two-cabin version. A plethora of interior design options with a choice of high-quality natural woods allow you to fully customize the yacht to suit your needs. Below deck, find up to three cabins. The separated shower cabin and toilet ensure comfort and privacy. The bow owner's cabin is well lit, thanks to the skylight with an integrated hatch. It offers numerous storage compartments. Exceptional design, pure comfort and ultimate convenience – the 380 FLY has it all.
